The Daily Bulletin.

VOL. VII.—NO. 1242.] CHARLOTTE, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1863. [$6 PER ANNUM

SECOND EDITION.

BY TELEGRAPH.

TELEGRAPHED FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

FROM FORREST'S COMMAND.

ATLANTA, May 6.

From Forrest we have received reliable information. Thirty five hundred Yankees, on coming through Talladega, Ala., destroyed the State Road.

Col. I. Cruse, one of Forrest's staff officers came down to Marietta and telegraphed to Gen. Johnston for reinforcements.

Gov. Brown was on the train and promised all the available troops, military and people, that are prepared.

FROM CHATTANOOGA.

CHATTANOOGA, May 6.

All is quiet on the front, and the weather cold.

On Sunday fifty prisoners were captured at Dadeville, by Forrest, who arrived this evening, with chiefly Alabamians. Capt. Forrest's brother, and Gen. Feard, were mortally wounded in the recent fighting.

FROM VICKSBURG.

VICKSBURG, May 6.

It is reported that Col. Ferguson has destroyed two transports and two barges at Greenwood, and crippled another, and drove off one gunboat.

Nothing important from the army below. The enemy has not advanced across the Big Black, and at last accounts but one gunboat was in sight, across the river today.

A Company of the 46th Mississippi, captured at Port Gibson, subsequently made their escape from the enemy, and is now with the regiment.

Lt.-Col. Peters, who was taken at Port Gibson, on the 20th ultimo, escaped and rejoined his regiment yesterday.

FROM THE RAPPAHANNOCK.

RICHMOND, May 7.

A correspondent of the Richmond Whig givesfurther details of the battles of Chancellorsville and Fredericksburg.

Hooker accomplished the capture of Mary's Heights by a ruse, on Saturday evening. He sent a large force towards his right, but recalled them during the night and threw them rapidly across the river on pontoons. The battle commenced at daylight by Barksdale's Brigade, which checked them some time with volleys of musketry, bayonets and clubbed muskets, but they were forced to fall back before overwhelming numbers, not however, until the ground was piled with the Yankee slain.

Our loss is one hundred in all; but two Companies of the 10th Mississippi were captured: Col. Griffin and Adjutant Stuart were killed; Major Campbell wounded; all but seven of the First Company of Washington Artillery were taken prisoners, including Capt. Squires.

The Yankees showed no quarter to the rebels.

The guns of the Washington Artillery were not retaken.

Most of our casualties in the battles around Chancellorsville, are slight wounds in the hand and arm. Few were, comparatively speaking, killed.

The loss of the enemy is equal to three to one of any previous battle of the war.—The fields were literally strewn with their dead.

The prisoners captured were mostly the two years and nine months men, whose time of service soon expires. They say they were put in front by Hooker at every point.

The main body of the enemy having been driven to the river, the remainder was hemmed in by our army, and was afraid to advance, and yet, fearing to attempt to recross.

Gen. Lee has remarked that the present position of affairs in the field is entirely to his satisfaction.

Lane, of Kansas, has been making a characteristic speech before a Union League at Washington, from which we cull the following gem: "I would like to live long enough to see every white man in South Carolina now in hell, and the negroes inhabiting their territory." (Loud applause.)

The Hon. Pierre Soule is still in Havana, most anxious to return to the Confederacy, and to take part in our national struggle. In other words: "Our Soule's in arms and eager for the fray."

An Atlanta grocer advertises sardines and sherry under the head of "Reminiscences of the Past."

DRUGGISTS' CONVENTION.

A CONVENTION will be held in Augusta Georgia, on Wednesday, the 6th of May, to take into consideration the formation of a Pharmacopeia, and general measures to advance the profession in all its branches.

A full representation of the Chemists, Druggists, Pharmaceutists and Apothecaries of the Confederacy, are expected and all favorable to the cause are invited to attend.

TO COTTON PLANTERS.

I HAVE BEEN APPOINTED BY THE SECRETARY of the Treasury, Chief Agent for the purchase of Cotton for the Confederate Government within the State of North Carolina, and will pay for the same in 7 per cent. Bonds or Cash.

Sub-Agents visiting the different parts of the State, buying in my name, will have written certificates of appointment.

By order of the "Secretary of the Treasury," all Cotton purchased by myself, or my Agents, on and after the 15th day of March, 1863, will be paid for in 7 per cent. Bonds or Cash, and not 8 per cent. Bonds as stated in a former advertisement. Up to that time, however, the 8 per cent. Bonds will be furnished as stated.

Patriotic citizens are now offered an opportunity to aid the Government by selling to it their Cotton rather than to private capitalists.

A POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL AND LITERARY NEWSPAPER

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY

THE MERCURY gives daily reports of the Market and Marine Intelligence in Charleston, and of Charleston commerce in the leading seaports of the world. The Weekly Prices Current is made up with much care, and from the most reliable sources. Its connection with the "Associated Press" insures the latest intelligence by Telegraph and the earliest news by Steamers from Europe. It has an able and accomplished Correspondent in London (a gentleman connected with the editorial staff of the London Times,) and regular Correspondents in New York, Washington, Key West and Havana. The monthly New York Fashion Letters and weekly letters on Life in Washington are additional attractions in favor of its lady readers. Its literary notices, from the pen of a gentleman who occupies perhaps the highest position among the literary men of the South, are discriminating and comprehensive.—Attention is paid to all matters of general concern, especially those in reference to the Planting and Agricultural interest, and to the current news of the day. Great care is taken that nothing shall appear in its columns which should be excluded from the family circle.

The political creed of the MERCURY consists in the principles of the Democratic Party, as laid down in the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798 and 1799—the Sovereignty of the States; a strict construction of the Federal Constitution by the General Government, the agent of the States; Free Trade, and an economical Administration of the Government. Its policy is the Union of the Southern States in maintaining their rights.

Vice President Stephens in Goldsboro.

Correspondence of the Raleigh Progress.]

GOLDSBORO, May 6th.

MR. EDITOR:—The citizens and sojourners here were treated last night to a short impromptu address from Vice President Stephens, who stopped over to rest, on his way home in the south.

He assured the assemblage that, from all he could learn, he believed our arms had won a very great victory over Hooker's army in Virginia.

He disclosed the fact that from recent information just from the North, a simultaneous movement has been ordered on the part of all the Yankee commanders, everywhere—at Suffolk, on the Rappahannock, in East and Middle Tennessee, in Mississippi, at Vicksburg, and in Louisiana.

Mr. Stephens spoke with his usual force and eloquence, and frequently elicited loud applause during his short speech, which occupied a space of, ten minutes. He seems to be hopeful of our final success, but still believes, as he always has, that we will only succeed by convincing the North by strong arms and well directed blows that they can never subjugate the South. He closed by exhorting us all to renewed efforts and unyielding determination never to stop short of complete independence. He said, as for him he could repeat with a hearty will, the dying words of the immortal Patrick Henry, "Give me liberty (Constitutional liberty,) or give me death," emphasizing the word Constitutional. I hope, Mr. Editor, that our little petty tyrants who are over stepping the bounds of their authority and assuming to exercise dictatorial and despotic sway, will mark particularly that latter clause, for, if we are fighting for a liberty that is not Constitutional we had better quit, least the time soon arrive when we will curse the day that severed our connection with the British crown.

ACTS VETOED AND UNSIGNED.—On the last day of the late session of Congress the President returned two acts with his veto—one, originating in the Senate, to authorize the transmission of newspapers to soldiers free of postage. The disapproval is based upon the contravention of that section of the Constitution which requires the postoffice department to be self-sustaining. One provision of the act required the payment of the postage upon said newspapers out of the public treasury, and was, therefore, in effect, an appropriation to the postoffice department.

The other act vetoed was in relation to the Tennessee Congressional elections A bill was subsequently framed so as to obviate the objections of the President, and being passed by both Houses, received his approval and signature a few minutes before the adjournment.

Four acts were unsigned by the President, and therefore failed to become laws One provided for the conscription of citizens of the United States sojourning in the Confederate States; another organizing a general staff; another establishing the ordnance department, and the fourth relating to the public printing.—Whig

FOREIGNERS FOR THE YANKEE ARMY.—The Liverpool Albion, of March 19th says:

For some time past it has been observed that from this port, and also from Cork, there has been a considerable, or rather indeed, a large emigration of strong, active young men, chiefly Irish, for New York. The extent to which this draft has been and still is carried, give rise to the suspicion that these young men are in reality recruits for the Federal army. This suspicion, further countenanced by the well known fact that for a long time past agents of the Federal Government have been at work in Ireland, endeavoring surreptitiously to obtain recruits. The Federal Government makes so much noise about our alleged assistance to the Confederates, that it would be as well if their own proceedings were watched more closely. We believe the Government is in possession of facts confirmatory of the movements of Federal agents in Ireland.

SIGNIFICANT PARAGRAPH.—The New York Express of the 18th has a paragraph among its Washington correspondence, which says:

Much anxiety is felt here for the reply of England to the despatches sent out by Mr. Seward, as on their temper and terms depend the question of peace or war with that country. The mere fact of the recall of Mr. Adams, our Minister, and the sending home of Lord Lyons, would not necessarily produce war, but in that event it is believed the United States Government will be compelled to declare it.

The paragraph evidently refers to some imbroglio with England, growing out of the arrest of Commodore Wilkes, which had not yet been made public at the North up to our latest advices from there.

PRESENT FOR GEN LEE.—A gentleman who recently passed the Federal lines, says the Democratic ladies of New York have gotten up a magnificent sword at a cost of twelve hundred dollars, intended as a present to Gen. Lee. It will be sent to Richmond by some underground railroad, though it may share the fate of the boots and night gown of President and Mrs. Davis, which were forwarded by the ladies of Baltimore, but which were smelt out and captured by Gen. Schenck.

Our Killed and Wounded Soldiers.

We are indebted to the kindness of some of our friends for the annexed copies of telegraphic dispatches relative to some of our brave soldiers in the late battle in Virginia:

CONCORD, May 7.

Capt. John Young was killed at Fredericksburg during the battle.

RICHMOND, May 7.

"I am wounded in the thigh; Dall Rigler in the leg.

"Lieut. Elms and Taggart are safe.

W. M. STITT."

STARTLING INTELLIGENCE—IF TRUE.—We have the unpleasant intelligence, if true, by passengers from Atlanta, to the effect that the main body of Yankee cavalry, reported at some 10,000 strong, had attacked Gen. Forrest, and recaptured all the prisoners that he had previously taken; also, that the enemy occupied Rome; and some three or four stations on the State Road. Trains were prohibited running further than Kingston. This news was received at Atlanta at twelve o'clock on Monday night.—Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel.

We have not the slightest doubt that the above is a mere rumor, started by one who desires that the wish is father to the thought.—ED. BULLETIN.

General Jackson.

The annexed revelation of the manner in which this great Chieftain received his wounds must create a keener pang in the heart of every true Southron than had his arm been pierced by a Yankee bullet; and we are sure that his brave soldiers who fired upon Gen. Jackson and his staff would rather that their arms had been palsied than that they had any part in the accidental maiming of their beloved and gallant chief.

A telegram on yesterday morning announced the fact that General Jackson's arm had been amputated, and that he was doing well. Mrs. Jackson, who is at present in the city, has been informed by a letter of the melancholy circumstances under which the General received his wounds.

The following are the facts of the unhappy affair, as detailed in that letter: At midnight, on Saturday night, his men being drawn up in line of battle, a body of troops was seen a short distance in advance of our line. It being doubtful whether they were friends or enemies, Gen. Jackson and staff rode forward to ascertain. Whilst he was engaged in reconnoitering, his men being unaware of his movement, mistook himself and staff for enemies and fired a volley into them, instantly killing one of his staff and severely wounding General Jackson and Major [illegible]. One bullet passed through the General's right hand, whilst another struck his left arm below the elbow, and ranging upward, shattered the bone near the shoulder. He instantly fell to the ground. His brother-in-law, who was with him, laid down beside him to ascertain the character of his wounds. In a moment the unknown troops in front, who proved to be the enemy, advanced and captured two other staff officers who were standing over the General without noticing him. Soon after, four of our men placed him on a stretcher, and were bearing him to the rear, when they were all shot down. The injury to his right hand is severe, one of the bones having been shot away, but it is believed he will ultimately recover its use.

Bridge Burnt on the N. C. Rail Road.

From the Raleigh State Journal.]

We learn that the bridge across South Buffaloe Creek, on the line of the N. C. R R., about one mile south of Greensboro, was burnt down on Tuesday evening. Though the bridge was guarded, the fire was not discovered till the train coming North had partly passed over.—The train however got safely over the burning bridge. There is a suspicion afloat that the guard on this bridge did not do their duty, or are implicated in the matter, and they have been arrested. If this rumor be true, we trust they will be hanged without delay. A cool-blooded massacre of the passengers on the train was clearly aimed at, and a crime of that character admits of no palliation.

The destruction of this bridge will cause a temporary delay to the through trains on the road.

PROGRESS OF THE YANKEE CAVALRY RAID.

Rumor last night had it that the Yankee cavalry lately engaged in tearing up the Central and the Fredericksburg roads had succeeded in gaining the south side of James river; and fears were entertained one of the objects of their trip was an attack on Weldon and the destruction of the bridge at that point. We know not if there is any truth in these rumors, but we feel little apprehension on that point, as there are abundant forces to look after them.

If any raid is making on Weldon, we rather think it must be a force from the Yankee army at Suffolk, for we cannot imagine how the cavalry under Stoneman can have crossed the James river.

Yankee Testimony.

Willingly or unwillingly, the Yankees are giving expressive and significant testimony against their own schemes and pretentions, and in favor of the South.

The following account of the horrible condition of the slaves in Nashville is from the charge to the Grand Jury by Judge Brien on the act for the punishment of slaves:

We of the city of Nashville are absolutely cursed with the presence of a negro population which we find it impossible to control. Nashville is made the general rendezvous for all the runaway negroes in this and some of the adjoining States. They thurst themselves into the houses of our citizens and defy the owners to oust them. They pilfer, they steal, they scruple at nothing, they respect nobody; they regard no law, human or divine. Some of them are engaged in hospitals, but they are so numerous that this is perhaps only a fractional part. They promenade our streets; they crowd our sidewalks; they thread alleys; they fill our houses, cellars, garrets. They are too lazy to work; too ignorant to distinguish between liberty and license; too shameless to respect common decency, and too degraded to observe the ordinary rules of morality. The men are thieves and burglars, the women prostitutes and vagrants. There is scarcely a stable, a hog pen, or a hen roost that does not bear the impress of a long heel and hollowless instep. These negroes are a curse to the army, a cancer to society, a blight upon honestly, morality and decency, and a leech upon the Government.

Expected Financial Trouble in Europe.

The New York Journal of Commerce remarks thus about the position of matters in Europe:

The prophets in Great Britain have sneered over much at our financial troubles, but from present appearances they are quite as likely to be caught in the jaws of a momentous crisis as their more reckless cousins on this side of the water. The trade with India for nine months leaves them a deficit of over fifty million dollars to be paid out in specie, and the continued arrival of cotton, at high prices, are adding to the embarrassment. To buy cotton of a people who are hungry for nothing but silver, and who swallow all sent to them without a promise of disgorging a dollar, will be found a very different task from buying of the Yankees and paying in sundries at a handsome profit. It is true that a large amount of English capital heretofore used in the United States has been drawn home, and a still greater amount added by the timid Americans who feared to leave their all in their native land, amid these scenes of commotion and bloodshed; and this will partly bridge over the English difficulty. But it will not give permanent relief; and if our difficulties should be settled, and this money called back, the pinch in the English money market would be anything but laughable, however funny our troubles appear in English eyes.—There are those who predict the suspension of the Bank of England before the close of this year; but whether this occurs or not, it is certain that there will be sufficient stringency over there to turn the attention homeward which is now occupied concerning American affairs. France may share in the same trouble, as her imports from new avenues of trade have not been counterbalanced by exports of French products sufficient to equalize the current of exchange.

A Compliment Well Bestowed.

An officer writing from Shelbyville, Tennessee, to a friend, gives the following statement:

Yesterday I had the honor to ride around the camps with Lieutenant General Polk and General Cheatham, who were on a grand inspecting tour. The camps all looked in fine order, the guns bright and the men in the very best spirits.

Gen. Polk, after questioning Col. McMurry about the condition of his regiment (4th Tennessee) said where is the color bearer? Sergeant Oakley, a young man abont 18 or 20 years old, stepped out in front of the whole regiment, dressed in common Butternut jeans, with real modesty, and unaffected manner and took of his cap. Gen. Polk ungloved his hand, and said "I must shake hands with you," and then raising his hat, said with great feeling and real martial eloquence, "I am proud to uncover in the presence of so gallant a man." The effect was tremendous and a shout rent the air. This young Oakley at the battle of Murfreesboro' advanced his colors some two hundred yards in front of his regiment under a terrific fire. A battery was playing upon the regiment and it was uncertain whether it was our battery or that of the enemy. This color bearer advanced in front, displaying his colors in a conspicuous manner, so as to stop the firing if they were friends, or to make it more intense if they were enemies. The increased severity of the firing which immediately followed determined the doubt and showed them to belong to the enemy. He then deliberately resumed his place in the line. We silenced their battery and drove back the opposing column.

Opinions of a Federal Soldier.

It is very evident that some of the Federal soldiery are getting very sick of Lincoln's nigger war. The letters sent by them to their friends are very desponding, and the tone of them shows that their writers look for anything but success.—One of them writes thus from the Vicksburg army:

Coming down, and since we have been here, I have seen enough of abolitionism to astonish and disgust any man with a heart. Since we left Helena, I have seen no less than ten negroes lie out in the open air, or on the deck of a boat with scarcely a rag on. I have seen those negroes lie in within sight of twenty thousand men, and some that I knew were the blackest kind of abolitionists, and die without a mouthful to eat and for the want of a draught of water. And those very men who feel so for the blacks in bondage could see those negroes die like dogs. Old Captain C. is one of them. I knew it; so I stole one of his blankets and gave it to a poor darkie to die in.

What I have observed and experienced, summed up, amounts to just this: First, I have never seen a regular African that could take care of himself. Secondly, it is for a planter's interest to feed, clothe and use his slaves well. They live as comfortable and as well as our hard working men in the North, and one white man will actually do more work than four negroes. We are taking them from soft beds and plenty of food, to live on nothing and sleep on brick pavements. We are here living on a little of nothing, sleeping in the mud, and exposing ourselves to a thousand different dangers to bring about this result.

About Lincoln's emancipation proclamation: Our officers had the Companies vote whether they would support old Abe in it. Our Company and all the rest voted it down—would not support it; but the officers sent it in just as they liked it themselves, not as we voted.

Let those men who sit at the firesides of their comfortable houses and say—"Fight it out, boys," go and try it a couple of years, and they will not be so fast.

RARE CHANCE FOR A BARGAIN.

THE subscriber, desirous of obtaining a lot of Uncle Jeff's currency, has concluded to sell his Establishment at Slice's Shoals, on First Broad River in Cleaveland county, N. C. At the Shoals he has now running and in complete order one Forge for making iron—tub blast; Wheat and Corn Mill. The flour made at this mill is equal to any in the State; also, one set of Mill stones for grinding ears of corn to meal, a Saw Mill, (3 to this wheels) a Machine and Turning Lathe Shop, a Blacksmith Shop with five fire places, an excellent Tan Yard, with the right of Waitt's improvements on tanning, now in use; and what is better than all, one of the best Shoals on the river in Western North Carolina, together with about 1000 acres of Land, 600 acres of wood land of the best of oak and pine timber, balance cleared, and excellent farming Land; an excellent orchard; also, a Shoe Shop and an Oil Mill for making flax and cotton seed oil; a good Dwelling House, Store House and all other out buildings necessary.

This property will rent, in all probability, be offered for sale again for a generation to come.—The river affords water enough to run a mill any quantity of Machinery, a dam as full often feet to 50 yards over a smooth rock, a very small dam is needed.

My address is as above.
